KING OF ROUMANIA SHOT TO RECEIVE DELEGATES

Palace Stormed After Vain Attempt of Royal Family to Escape From the Capital—Cries of "Down With the Monarchy, Long Live Republic.

Copenhagen, Feb. 14.—An anti-crown revolution has developed in Roumania and is spreading swiftly, according to Bucharest dispatches via Budapest and Vienna yesterday.

King Ferdinand was wounded—how gravely is not stated—when the car in which he and his family tried to escape from Bucharest to Jassy was stoned.

Crowds of rebels surrounded the machine, stopped it and forced the royal party to return to Bucharest Palace, which was subsequently attacked.

Shouts of "down with the monarchy long live the republic and the revolutionary proletariat" are resounding in the streets of the Roumanian capital. The Bratianu Cabinet is reported tottering.

Bolsheviki propaganda has a hand in the uprising, according to some dispatches.

Food shortage is critical, and the whole country is in a state of unprecedented disorder.

Government troops prevented execution of rebel threats to assassinate King Charles, but the morale of the Roumanian army is described as shaky.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Political unrest has been reported in Roumania, at various times since the country's surrounder to the Central Powers at the Bucharest conference. Many of the people felt that Roumania should have continued the fight. Recently, Russian Bolshevik agitators were said to have been spreading the revolutionary propaganda in Roumania.

King Ferdinand, who is 53 years old succeeded his uncle, the late King Carol on the throne October 11, 1914. He married Princess Marie, daughter of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha in 1893. They have five children, Crown Prince Carol, Prince Nicholas, and Princesses Elizabeth, Marie and Ileana. Queen Marie is violently pro-ally and refused to enlorse the Bucharest treaty.

Richmond—Peck's Bad Girl

Mabel Normand comes to the Richmond tonight in "Peck's Bad Girl," the breeziest, swiftest, most delightful comedy drama ever produced. "Peck's Bad Girl" is a while show in itself. It's circus, hippodrome, comedy, drama and melodrama all thrown into one big plot, boiled down, stirred 'round and served a la carte. Mabel Normand is at her very best in this different play. e

Corporal Anderson, of This City, Just From Overseas Declares He was Best Officer in Regiment and Others Thought he was Best in Army.

In a special article in Tuesday's Times-Dispatch, written from Newport News by a staff correspondent of that paper, the article has the following to say regarding Capt. James S. Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sid Douglas, now overseas:

Corporal T. J. Anderson, of Alexandria, who fought with the Three Hundred and Eighteenth Infantry, was almost speechless as to his experiences in the big show until, by chance, he mentioned the name of his captain, J. S. Douglas, of Alexandria.

"Anything you say about him won't be too good," he vowed, "I thought he was the best officer in the regiment, and a lot of the fellows thought he was the best in the army. He was a good fellow and a great captain, and that's going some. Anybody in Company B will tell you that. How the Heines missed him I don't know but he was the only commissioned officer left in the company when I got mine on November 4."

Corporal Anderson said he missed the smiles of the Statue of Liberty, but Newport News didn't seem to be draped in mourning.

"I don't know whether I'm dreaming or not," the corporal declared, "but I'm feeling kinda different anyhow. The old U. S. A. surely seems good now. I see the newspapers say a lot about us fellows falling in love with the French madamoiselles, but the ones around Alexandria will look more like queens than ever to me."

The Eightieth Division headquarters of which arrived in France on May 3 of last year, has seen some of the hardest fighting on the western front. The men received their first baptism of fire in the Aveuly woods, while serving with the men of Great Britain. Later they took part in driving the Germans from the old St. Mihiel salient, which marked the first great drive of the American army acting as an individual unit. Almost continuously it fought with the allied forces which swept the Germans through the Argonne forest until the fateful day when Prussian might discarded machine guns for a white flag of mercy. During the war the division captured 103 officers and 1,710 men, 83 pieces of artillery and 641 machine guns, and advanced its lines thirty-seven kilometers.

Among the other Virginians in the hospital at Hampton were Corporal Grant Kennedy, of the Fourth Infantry, who in ten months of service was twice wounded, at Chateau-Thierry and in the Argonne, and Private H. P. Williams, of the Ninth Infantry.

IN MEMORIAM

STRUDER—In loving remembrance of our son who died 6 years ago today, February 14, 1913.

Just six years ago dear Raymond
Since you passed away to rest,
Though you are gone you are not forgetten,
By the ones that loved you best.
By his mother, father and brother.
39-1t.

In sad but loving remembrance of our baby, Howard Arnold Groves, who went to rest two months ago today, December 14, 1918.

Darling baby how we miss you
Miss your gentle smiling face,
And our home seems sad and dreary
When we see your vacant place.

Vainly did we toil to save you
And physicians were in vain,
For soon we knew that none but God
Could ease you of your earthly pain.

God needed one more angel babe,
For his bright angel band,
And so in love and pity
Reached down for our darling's hand.

Sleep on dear babe and take thy rest
Lay thy head on the Savior's breast
We loved thee well but God thee best
And so he blessed you and took you to rest.

Gone but not forgotten.
By his father and mother,
Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graves.
39-1t.

POLICEMAN SHOT BARRED FROM LEAGUE

Walker Campbell Probably Fatally Wounded by James H. Lawrence, a Prisoner—Lawrence Employed as Special Officer at Potomac Yards.

Policeman Walker Campbell, about fifty years old, was shot and probably fatally wounded at 2:15 o'clock this morning by a prisoner, James H. Lawrence, twenty-four years old, a discharged soldier, employed at the Potomac Railroad Yards, whom he and Policeman C. A. Padgett had in custody.

The shooting took place after the two policemen had gone a little more than a square with their prisoner, it being enacted on the south side of King between St. Asaph and Pitt streets.

The bullet entered Campbell's abdomen and he was rushed in an automobile to the hospital by Policemen William Campbell, a son of the wounded man, and Charles Bell and treated by Drs. Delaney, Bayly and Yates.

The prisoner was conveyed to the station house by Sergt. Wilkinson and Policeman Padgett following the shooting, and they also took possession of his gun.

Lawrence was taken in custody by the officers after he had thrown an empty whisky flask into the street while standing with a companion at the northwest corner of King and Washington streets.

The noise made attracted both policeman, who were nearby. One was at one corner and one at another. Both rushed over to where Lawrence was and placed him under arrest and proceeded towards police station with the prisoner.

They had only a little more than a square when Lawrence resisted, saying he was not going. All of a sudden he began wrestling with Policeman Campbell while Policeman Padgett held on. In the meantime he had freed himself from Policeman Campbell's grip and pulled the pistol and fired while Policeman Padgett was holding him.

Lawrence stated that he thinks he pulled the pistol from his pocket and he does not remember whether or not it went off in the scuffle. He declares he is no deseprado and had no intention of shooting. He also said he had been drinking.

The prisoner says that he lives at Highland Springs, Va., and for the past nine months has been in the army. He was located at Camp Lee, Va., and received his discharge from the army December 12. He has a wife.

For the past three weeks Lawrence says he had ben employed as a special officer at the Potomac railroad yards. He still wears his soldier's uniform.

The prisoner will not be arraigned until a future date pending the outcome of Policeman Campbell's injuries.

Officer Campbell's Version

A statement concerning the shoting was obtained today from Policeman Campbell at the Alexandria Hospital .It is substantially to the effect that he was standing at the southwest corner of Washington and King streets and saw a man take a drink from a whiskey flask; afterward the flask was thrown into the street; he immediately proceeded across the street and placed the man, wearing a soldier's uniform in custody.

He together with Policeman Padgett who came up in the meantime, started off with their prisoner and had gone only a short distance when Lawrence declared he would not go and pulled out his pistol and shot him.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon at the hospital it was stated that the condition of Policeman Campbell remained unchanged.

No Present Intention of Admitting Enemy Power—President Wilson Starts on Homeward Journey Tonight—Will Sail tomorrow.

Paris, Feb. 14.—There is no present intention of admitting enemy powers to the league of nations, it was declared today by Andre Tardieu, member of the French Peace Commission.

Neutral nations, favorably disposed toward the league, will be received upon application if suitable guaranties are given.

The society of powers, according to M. Tardieu, follows the lines previously indicated, with measures relating to international arbitration, and so on. National sovereignty remains intact.

The league will exist henceforth with the members having the status as the peace conference.

DANIELS URGES SUFFRAGE

Appeals to North Carolina Legislature; Indorses National Guard.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 14.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels, in addressing the North Carolina legislature yesterday, urged the lawmakers to give women the ballot. The Secrtary declared his disappointment that North Carolina had not led in bestowing woman's ballot box rights as "it had led in rebellion against organized tyranny." He said he would not worry over lost opportunities, but asked that the women be given the right to vote, "that they may aid us in selecting the best men."

Mr. Daniels also urged the strengthening of the military course at State College; retention of the national guard for domestic service; extending uniform educational advantage to all parts of the State, and proper memorials to the soldiers in the war.

GRAND THEATRE TOMORROW

Suppose you were a fugitive from justice, accused of he murder of your rich uncle. Suppose, under your assumed character, you married a sweet young thing who had lived in the country all her life. And then, when you took her to the city in order to clear your name, for her sake now as well as your own, you should overhear your little innocent wife declare to your lawyer, in whom you had the utmost confidence, that she had married you for the money the dead uncle had left and that she would divide it with the lawyer, if he would defend his client in such a way that he would lose the case. Well, of course, there was much that Arlington didn't know, and that's what makes "$5,000 Reward" so exciting.

Also a comedy of the highest order will be shown.

SAD OCCURRENCE

Not since the shooting and killing of Julian Arnold May, 1887, on the old fair grounds, by a desperado known as Billy Williams, of Washington, has such sincere regret been manifested at the shooting and probably mortally wounding of Officer Walker Campbell while in the discharge of his duty at an early hour this morning. The man who wielded the pistol is a special officer at the Potomac railroad yards, a man who has subscribed to the same oath administered to all policemen in the state of Virginia. Instead of leaving his pistol at home or at the office of the railroad yards, he left his post for this city with the deadly weapon in his possession, together with a bottle of whisky, and upon reaching King and Washington streets he smashed one bottle on the pavement, an act which has long been a misdemeanor in this city, and before broken glass became a menace to automobiles and bicycles. Officers Campbell and Padgett, who witnessed the act, placed the man under arrest and when the trio had reached the south side of King street, between St. Asaph and Pitt, the individual who should have vied with his brother officers in preserving the peace, drew a quart bottle of whisky from his pocket and smashed it in the doorway of a store. He then began to struggle with his captors, during which he succeeded in drawing a pistol which he discharged into Mr. Campbell's side, inflicting a wound which may prove mortal.

The wounded man is one of the most trustworthy officers who has appeared on the police force for many years, and the sad affair has brought forth sincere regrets from every section of the city.

Policemen in performing their duty especially, at night, take their lives into their own hands. Many persons, white and black carry pistols, and the guardians of our city are often placed in perilous positions. Mr. Campbell several years ago had to fight for his life while engaged in arresting a negro desperado in the northwestern section of the city.
northwestern sction of the city.

While the community was discussing the attempt to murder Mr. Campbell the news of the passing away of Sergeant John T. Roberts was received. Mr. Roberts had been on the force, during the past twenty seven years. He was of a courteous nature, and was popular with all who knew him. He had for several years been a sufferer from chronic organic trouble.

ROLLER-SKATING ANNOYANCE

The construction of granolithic sidewalks and vitrified brick roadways in Alexandria has brought with such modern improvements the roller-skater, who is causing no little annoyance and in some cases danger to pedestrians. Were these juveniles to keep in the roadway but few persons would seriously object, but they prefer the sidewalks, and often persons moving to and fro, especially those who are in the evening of life, take refuge behind trees after dark to avoid collisions. In some sections of the city the custom has become so annoying that people are considering the advisability of petitioning Council to pass an ordinance forbidding the pastime altogether.

At present children under a certain age are permitted to use roller skates on sidewalks of all streets save King, but many others who are farther advanced in life engage in the sport on all thoroughfares in open defiance of law. Roller-skating is forbidden on any part of King street, yet young people of both sexes are seen moving to and fro on that thoroughfare, sometimes holding on to wagons.

The police drive the children into the roadway when they are found skating on sidewalks, but as soon as the officer leaves the vicinity the youngsters are at it again.

Ocasionally youths well up in their teens are arraigned in the Police Court for violating the law. They have generally been dismissed with an admonition, but one day this week one was fined for his defiance.

Increase of accidents, some fatal, to children on roller skates inspired adoption Wednesday evening by the Anacostia Citizens' Association of a resolution, to be referred to the Federation of Citizens' Associations, calling upon the board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia to promulgate a regulation prohibiting roller skating on the public highway within the District.

WARNING OF THE CHURCH

A dispatch from London says strong condemnation of socialist doctrines is voiced by Dutch bishops in a joint pastoral just issued. The document, after noting the spread of socialism proceeds:

"The teaching of socialists concerning property and legal ownership, concerning authority and human society, whereby they would reform the world, takes absolutely no account of the eternal and unalterable laws of God nor of the divine teaching and the precepts of the Gospel. It is a false doctrine stigmatized by the church, which has been set up by Jesus Christ as the infallible guardian and teacher of truth. Socialism is thus in conflict with our Catholic faith, which aims at leading and reforming mankind according to the principles of our Lord and Master Jesus Christ.

"The following prohibitions are promulgated:

"1. It is forbidden and absolutely unlawful for a Catholic to be a member of anarchist or socialist associations or to give active support to such.

"2. A Catholic may not join associations, which although not bearing the name of anarchist or socialist, are united with anarchist or socialist associations or actively support the same.

"3. The Catholic who has joined such associations or actively supported them is under the serious obligation of renouncing his membership or of ceasing to give such support.

"4. Wherefore, so long as a Catholic is a member of such organizations and has not the least determination to renounce his membership as soon as possible, or if he gives active support to such organizations, he cannot obtain absolution from sins and therefore cannot worthily receive any sacrament.

TAX BILL PASSED

Senate Takes Final Action Without a Record Vote

Final legislative action on the war revenue bill levying $6,000,000,000 in taxes this year and $4,000,000,000 yearly thereafter until revised, was taken yesterday by the Senate without a record vote. With but a few scattering "noes," the conference agreement on the measure was adopted as approved last Saturday by the House. After the bill is signed by Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark it will be sent to the White House for approval by President Wilson after his return from France, about the end of the month.

Only brief debate preceded the Senate vote. Senator Smoot, of Utah, Republican, spoke in criticism of several features of the bill, deploring especially culmination of the amendment to repeal existing zone rates on second class mail.

The new box coats, and plain tailored models are really very considerate of almost all types of femininity—the slender, the plump, the tall and the short. Of course it is a matter of which style you select because there are practically styles for all, but naturally not every style will suit every figure.

For the girlish figure there are new high-waist models. For the woman of piquant style the new sport models are wonderfully becoming, for the demure the plain tailored models, and for the average woman the box coat, with little vest.

Many, in fact the majority of the new suits, show some braid trimming.

The new materials are serges, poplins and fancy mixtures.

The colors are navy, tan, gray and rookey.

All sizes from those for misses of 14 years to the women of 44 bust.

PASSING OF HOPEWELL

Mushroom Virginia City Settling Down to Normal Conditions

A correspondent of the Baltimore Evening Sun says Hopewell has lost hope!

For over three years this little mushroom city, which sprung from the cornfields and cotton plantations almost over night, lived up to its name. It had visions of a population of 200,000 in 1920.

Then came the end of the war—and Hopewell was hopeless.

The E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company closed its great guncotton plant, which had been the only industry, the sole excuse for the existence of Hopewell.

In three years Hopewell had grown to a city of 40,000 people, with paved streets, modern improvements, brick store buildings and row upon row of little wooden cottages. In three months it has become a deserted village, with a population of less than 4,000.

Hundreds of the little cottages, built by the Du Pont company to house its employes, are empty. Scores of the stores and offices that lined Broadway and Hopewell streets, the main business section, are deserted and closed. Property values, which in 1915 and 1916 reached metropolitan proportions, have so slumped that you can buy a lot in Hopewell today for $25 which two years ago cost the owner $5,000 or more.

And the Du Pont company is dismantling its plant, turning the greater part of its acid-worn machinery into junk, and shipping the rest of it to its other plants.

The company is now experimenting with making paper pulp in its guncotton works. The name has been changed from the Du Pont Powder Company to the Du Pont Chemical Company.

Hopewell was one of the marvels of the war. "The Wonder City," they called it. Faced with millions of dollars' worth of orders from the Allied Governments for guncotton and nitric acid and sulphuric acids the Du Pont company in 1915 selected this site, at the confluence of the James and Appomatox rivers, navigable by seagoing ships, as the spot on which to rush up a big factory.

Men hurried to Hopewell from all parts of the country, lured by the promise of high wages. Common laborers were paid from $25 to $50 a week; skilled workmen got fabulous wages. At first the town went through the history of all boom towns—it lived in tents and board shacks built over night. Twice it was destroyed by fire and rebuilt more solidly. By the time the United States got into the war Hopewell was a real city, with 100 brick buildings and hundreds of cozy wooden and tar paper cottages built by the company.

The powder plant's payroll approximately more than a million dollars a month. Money was plentiful, and the city was one of the most prosperous in the country, despite its youth. It installed costly fire aparatus, built waterworks, paved the streets, lighted them with electric lights, organized a police force and laid its plans to expand into a city of 200,000. Its Board of Trade did a lot of advertising to bring people here, and there was work for all who came.

Then came November 11—the day of rejoicing throughout the world but of dire tragedy for Hopewell. Four days later the company began discharging its men. By January 1 the entire plant was closed. The giant stacks are smokeless, the great boilers are cold. Twenty thousand men found themselves without work.

Unless the Du Pont company's paper experiment proves successful, within a few months Hopewell will be completely deserted and will be left to ruin like its historic neighbor, Jamestown, only a few miles away.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Daniel H. Tolman, 18, apprentice seaman at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, at Chicago, identified as missing heir to the $7,000,000 estate of his uncle, Daniel D. Tolman, millionaire loan agent who died a year ago.

Precipitate flight was better than receiving constant and unwelcome attentions from fortune hunters, in the opinion of Miss Alice Antonitte Lamar, whose father the late J. R. Lamar, the mining magnate, of New York, left her the income of $10,000,000, so she fled to Hawaii with two young women friends.

England may be plunged at any time into one of the greatest industrial upheavals, it has ever known, J. H. Thomas, labor leader, declared during an address on the labor situation in the coal mines and on the railways in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. He declared a million men are unemployed in Great Britain.

Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass went before the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday and explained his reasons for asking wide powers in connection with the forthcoming victory loan. One of the most startling statements made by Mr. Glass in his testimony was that in the three months since the war has ended this country has spent at the rate of nearly $2,000,000,000 a month, and the end of it not yet.

Charged with embezzlement of $80,000, J. S. Swartz, cashier of the Park Bank, of Pittsburgh, Pa., which was closed yesterday by the State bank examiner, is in a delirious condition. Swartz was arrested upon charges preferred by the bank directors. The police found him in bed suffering from a mental breakdown and unconscious, it is stated. Swartz was removed to a hospital, where he is being closely guarded.

Storms in the Middle West and mountain region yesterday virtually suspended wire communication between the Rocky Mountains and Pacific Coast and the remainder of the country. Blizzards in Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma, were accompanied by a drop in temperature that threatened loss of livestock in some sections, and possible damage to winter wheat. Rain and snow were falling late yesterday in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

A Capital Traction street car was added to the bootlegging squad of the District of Columbia police, following a collision between the car and an automobile at Eighth street and Maryland avenue northeast, last night. The machine was found to be carrying 128 quarts of whisky which at the present stiff price is worth about $320. The machine was badly damaged. The driver jumped out and escaped. The machine bore a Virginia tag number 4956. The police request that the owner of the whisky call for it at the Ninth precinct station.

Lieut. Col. Bennett Clark, assistant chief of staff of the Eighty-eighth division, now on duty in France, will return to Washington to find that the House has picked some body else for his job, which pays aobut $6,000 per year. iLeut. Col. Clark is a son of the Speaker, and has acted as parliamentarian and clerk at the Speaker's desk since his father has wielded the gavel. When the Republicans assume control of the House in the Sixtieth-sixth Congress, Col. Clark will be succeeded by a follower of the G. O. P., and there are a number of candidates already seeking the place.

POLAND AND GERMANY

Hun National Assembly May Authorize Conscription of Men up to The Age of 25

The Polish Parliament in extraordinary session yesterday considered war on Germany. Czecho-Slovakia, Ukrainia and the Bolsheviki, according to Warsaw advices.

Continuance of the campaign against the Germans for possession of Posen and against the Reds in Lithuania were strongly urged, it was indicated.

Premier Paderewski introduced American voting methods and machinery at the Polish national elections, advices to the Polish bureau announced. A secret ballot was provided, electioneering was forbidden within 150 feet of the booths and saloons were closed.

Women of the gentry, workingmen land owners, peasants and civic and church dignitaries stood in long lines awaiting their turn to vote, it was declared.

Berlin, Feb. 14.—Newspapers report that Polish artillery is bombarding the railway at Nakel (18 miles west of Bromberg) and that connection between Bromberg and Schneidemuehl (54 miles west of Bromberg) has been interrupted.

The city of Bromberg has offered a reward of 300,000 marks ($75,000) to German troops that will free it from the Poles, according to information obtained today.

The National Assembly is expected to authorize conscription in Germany of all able bodied men up to the age of 35.

Bulgars Cripple Population of One District, Says American

Lieut. William A. Drayton, of the Serbian artillery, who four times was rejected by United States army examiners for physical disability, and who is a son of J. Coleman Drayton, of New York, a member of the interallied commission on Bulgarian atrocities, arrived in Paris this week.

Lieut. Brayton described tortures inflicted by the Bulgars on the Serbian population. Aged women, he declared, were branded with red-hot irons, while in one Serbian county the whole population was crippled by the Bulgars in a systematic reign of terror. The Bulgars, according to Lieut. Brayton, destroyed numerous villages and towns outside the war zones.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 14.—Between $30,000 and $40,000 worth of morphine and other drugs were in the hands of Federal authorities yesterday following a raid early this morning on the Rest-Cure Sanatorium, which resulted in the arrest of Dr. Moritz Lowenthal on a charge ot unlawfully disposing of narcotics.

Hardwick Demands All Export Restrictions on Cotton Removed

Washington, Feb. 14.—Removal of all restrictions against the free exportation of cotton not only to enemy but also to neutral countries was demanded in the Senate yesterday by Senator Hardwick, of Georgia, in presenting a resolution adopted by Georgia cotton planters urging more rigid regulation by Congress of the cotton exchanges. He said the result of export embargoes had been that British spinners had largely controled the prices of cotton and its movement.

Representative Heflin, of Alabama, introduced a resolution authorizing the President to close cotton exchanges if they were found to cause "unjust market manipulation." The legislation was proposed as a rider to the Government Guarantee Wheat Price bill, and asked for a rule making his proposal in order for consideration as part of that measure.
